Longmeadow High School
Longmeadow,
Massachusetts
Volume XXV

good morning yesterday,

The year was 1957; it was an exciting time for Longmeadow seniors. They would be the first class to graduate from Longmeadow High School.

With great anticipation, they had reported to school that fall; the boys with crew cuts brushed to a fine fuzz; the girls with curls which had been sock-set the night before.

In their white buck shoes, felt skirts with poodle appliques, their strapless prom dresses with yards of tulle, their baggy pants and argyle socks, they looked very different from today's image of a high school senior. Yet, in their hearts they carried the same hopes, dreams, and aspirations of today's youth.

For they were we-the seniors of twenty-five years past; and we are they. Today, they are the parents and teachers of our generation. Together we form the warp and woof of which the world is made. With them, we use the thread of the past to weave the cloth of the future.

you wake up and time has slipped away,

The past four years at Longmeadow High School have been years of growth and maturation for us. We have achieved success and suffered disappointment. We have earned praise and rated reprimand. All of these factors have contributed to the learning process, and all have fostered our preparation for the future. They are stepping stones on the path which we share with those students who have gone before us, as well as those students who are yet to come.

and suddenly it's hard to find,

Here you are in kindergarden, captured in a time when you thought life was nothing but Bristle Blocks, sand box, nap time, and milk and cookies. Suddenly you blink and you're in High School. The years have swept by; even Freshman year is a vague blur. College is approaching more rapidly every day as Time sweeps you along the course of your destiny. You have grown up; past thoughts of pogo sticks and snowball fights melt perplexingly into worries about term papers and final exams. As a High School student you should look eagerly ahead towards the future while maintaining a steadfast grip on your past. For as a Lancer you are among a chosen breed; a breed of dedicated and enthusiastic peers gathered together at L.H.S. celebrating the tradition of academic and extra-cirricular excellence established by our forebrothers twenty-five years ago. So celebrate your good fortune and savor your time in Longmeadow, for before you know it, you too will be relying on memories and Masacksic to bring back those fond memories you thought would never end.

Masacksic 1981 is dedicated to the first graduates of Longmeadow High School, the class of 1957, to the 25th graduating class, the class of 1981, and to the graduates of 25 years hence, the class of 2006.

Although we are separated by vast segments of time, we share a common bond of memories preserved in our yearbooks. These memories are the hidden treasures of our past and the keys to our future. They can never be taken away. Remember these years and cherish them forever.

SENIORS

Looking back twenty-five years to the Senior Class of 1957 and comparing it to the Class of 1981, one sees many changes. Perhaps the most dramatic change is the class size: only 32 seniors in 1957; 365 in 1981. Along with class size, styles of clothing have changed, too-from bobby socks and saddle shoes, to stockings and candies. The boys have switched from neckties to rugby shirts and levi jeans. The people inside the clothing; however, have remained basically the same. The Seniors still spend their final weeks of school anticipating Senior Week, Graduation, and college.

The Senior Class of 1981 began the year with an overwhelming turnout at the first class council meeting. The seniors continued to display school spirit by winning the float and the spirit links competions over the Homecoming weekend. The main objective of the Senior Class Council was to unite the class through participation in senior events which included a great number of students involved in the class play, the annual Daisy-Weeds Game, the Homecoming Dance and the very successful Casino Night. Many hours of hard work and dedication were contributed by the officers: Tom Creed, Kevin Senstrom, Phil Peters, Lisa Crosby and Jane Rapalus, and also by the advisors, Mr. Vito Riccio, Miss Sue Feeney, and Mrs. Carol Rhodes. Certainly the most exciting events took place in the first week of June — the Prom, Senior Banquet, and finally Graduation. It was then that the seniors' pride was at its peak.

Mr. Riccio-"We've come a long way, baby. September of 1977 found two middle schools combining to become one class of 1981. Would we ever make it? Sue Feeney and I didn't know how to begin-but with your enthusiasm and our commitment we were off and running.

The years passed . . . Class Council meetings-214-215, Open Space and finally 231. Capturing Homecoming week-end- What a coup, Casino Nights, Parents' Prom-pass the hat, dances, raffles Jr.-Sr. Formals-Policeman's badge anyone?, Senior Homecoming knight on horse-back, caps and gowns, "Bye-Bye Birdie", the Creed years-Mr. President, Banquet, Prom, Hayannis Conference, Student Government Day in Boston . . . all the memories. You pulled it off!!! You did it!!! After four years of working and laughing together, I know your abilities. You're great. You have seen the "light", it's up to you to follow it."

Mrs. Rhodes- "Since I became Senior Class Advisor only this year, I have not experienced all the traumatic and ulcer-causing situations that Mr. Vito Riccio has, and before me, Ms. Sue Feeney had. These are the two individuals who are responsible for the successful ground work for this senior class.

I was a newcomer, but the Senior Class; wonderful as a whole and as individuals, seemed to offer me a successful philosophy:

Don't walk in front of me, I may not follow, Don't walk behind me, I may not lead, Just walked beside me, And be my friend . . . .

SPORTS

High school sports do not change very often, or do they? Coaches change. Uniforms change. But the sports themselves, have they really changed in 25 years? In 1957 the boys played baseball, golf, basketball, hockey, soccer, and football. The girls went out for field hockey, basketball, volleyball, badminton, archery, and drill team. In 1981, not only have there been several sports added to the list, but the girls' sports are becoming more masculine. Girls are now playing Lacrosse, and soccer. Also, high school girls now get involved with track, at least 60 of them at L.H.S. this spring. Swimming and skiing have also been added to both male and female playing lists. However, because of Proposition two and a half, several of these sports may be cut next year.

Beating East Longmeadow's football team, which had the home team advantage, is no small feat. Our football team made it look that way however, on Homecoming day, and the game resulted in a stunning victory for Longmeadow. Another of our big victories was the Northampton game, when LHS's team pulled through and won in the last second. These results are to be expected from a team of such superb players. Greg Radner with a 4.8 yard rushing average became an All League kicker, and Ted Landis with a 4.6 yard rushing average and a total of 412 yards became an All League punter. Eugene Johnson was voted Most Valuable Player, rushing for a total of 430 yards, and receiving 13 passes. Wright, a steady receiver, and Carey another great receiver was voted The Unsung Hero. Also contributing to the strong 5-5 record were the key linemen: Mark Keeley and Chris Burger, and juniors Chris Klinker, Matt Shoen, and Vin Daboul. The team had a great year and is looking forward to another, next year, with the remaining players.

Although the 1980 soccer season was not as successful as we would have wished there were some redeeming highlights. Returning mentor Ron Morissette along with Michael McMarthy led the well skilled and adaptable team. Because the positions were so variable, many players ended up playing both offensive and defensive positions. Team captains Pat Ratkowski, Scott Hanson, Terry Ditmar, aided by the points of top scorer sophomore Davis Paulides, helped the team in many tight situations. With excellent showings by goalies John Ratkowski and Jim Shannon, the season ended on a high note with a victorious game over South Hadley.

Junior Varsity Soccer Team

This year the varsity team was joined by three American Field Service (A.F.S.) members. Rob Van Ezdunc from Holland, Stuart Williams of Australia, and Per Nathanaelson of Sweden. Each added an extra dimension to the team allowing the players to learn about soccer and how it is played in each of these countries. Rob adjusted quickly to the American style of soccer by scoring in three of his first five games and adding an assist in the sixth. All agree the hardest thing to adjust to in soccer at L.H.S. was the large amount of running in practice. Says Stuart about all the running, "Back in Australia, a practice was shooting at the goal once a week for an hour and then going home." Since all three were seniors, the 1980 season was their first and last year playing soccer at LHS. But ask any player on the team and they'll tell you it was a pleasure having Rob, Stuart, and Per on the team, though only for one season. All the team members seemed to benefit from the experience by developing new friendships while learning about the lifestyles of three other countries of the world.

The Girl's Field Hockey Team, coached by Cathy McInnis, fought admirably against their unusually tough competition this season. Although their record of four wins, three losses and six ties is not as impressive as anticipated, these numbers do not reflect the dedication and sportsmanship of the players. Throughout the fall, the team could be seen sprinting around the field, sticks in hand, eagerly anticipating their next competition.

The team fought well against their strong rivals this season. Coach McInnis said that, "Of all the seeded teams we played, we tied three and only lost one." Part of this success is greatly because of the hard work of Deirdre O'Reilly, nominated most valuable player, and Donna Golaski. In anticipating the loss of eight seniors next year, Coach McInnis feels uncertain about the 1981 season. However, the return of Bronwyn O'Reilly and Soozi Becher next year along with Sarah Roth will boost the team's chances.

Cheerleading was especially popular at L.H.S. this year with more girls trying out than ever before. As usual, the activity involved two separate seasons: football and basketball. The 1980 season saw a progressive interest in cheering for basketball, probably because the routines were new and different, lending themselves to indoor performance.

The tryouts for football cheerleading took place in March. Practices started in August, about two weeks before school began. The squad consisted of six returning seniors and five sophomores. Unusually, there were no juniors on the squad. The captains were Sharon Spitzer and Becca Roth. The basketball season had fourteen girls participating and the captains were Becca Roth and Deanna Chiusano.

Practices took place after school between 2:45 and 4:45. The new coaches, Miss Bailey for football, and Miss Broderick for basketball, were considerable assets to both squads. The girls, who added many new mounts to their routines, entered into competition this year for the first time. Thus, the cheerleaders' spirit and enthusiasm helped make the 1980 Football and Basketball seasons more of a success.

Although the girls' soccer season was not as successful as the previous season, the girls gained many new skills and strategies. Coached by Mr. Al Jangl, the team worked hard throughout the fall. "The competition was even tougher than I thought," stated Coach Jangl, "As the caliber of our team grew, so did the caliber of our competition." Despite the varsity record of 5 wins and 10 losses, the team was flanked by many outstanding players. The star of the team proved to be Kathy Jenkins who made All Western Mass this year. Sophomore Naomi Schupack with five goals and one assist along with Nancy Okun with three goals and two assists also were valuable players to the team. Next year the team will enter its fifth season with many strong underclassmen returning to compete.

The Cross Country team proved to be the most successful team of the 1980 fall sports season. Although this season was unusually long, the team faced each of its fourteen competitions with power and enthusiasm. As a result of this dedication, the team finished the season with a record of 10 wins and 2 losses. This outstanding record placed Longmeadow in third out of twelve places in the Valley Wheel League.

The teams' make up was quite different from that of past years in that the competition was not dominated by any one runner as was the situation with Stuart and Andy Sears, but by a combination of teamwork and perseverence by many of the varsity runners. It was this teamwork that won many meets in which only one or two places decided the outcome.

This season the top runners were Paul Welch, Mike McLaughlin, and Mike Jones. The Horowitz brothers, Mike and Howard, along with David Deslauriers and Joe Flanagan also contributed greatly to the team's success. As a result of the number of varsity runners returning next season, Mr. Winseck, the long time coach of the team, feels optimistic: "We definitely have something to look forward to." It now seems that the sport of Cross Country and its success at Longmeadow is here to stay.

One of the top teams in school proved itself again this year as the Girl's Swim Team finished near the top in State competition coached by Mark Michelson and Mindy Cram (known as "Mark and Mindy"), the girls won the League title with a record of 12-1 and placed second in both Western Massachusetts and the State championships. The captains this year were seniors: Stacy Merullo, Kathy Griffin, Leslie Picard, Tracy Rehnien, Joyce Bott, and Lisa Crosby.

Barbie Brennen broke the school record in the 100 meter backstroke as well as the 100 freestyle. This season Karen Fraser broke records in 200 and 500 freestyle. These two, along with Kathy Griffin and Lisa Crosby, set a new school record in the 200 medley relay. Joyce Bott, Mindy Pincus, Barbie Brennen and Karen Fraser also combined to set a new 400 free relay record.

It will be impossible for the 1980 team to forget; Ira's playboy centerfold, shave down parties, "Greased Lightening," our favorite "Martian," our fans "Whale and Snoopy," "Caps, Mark not hats!" swimming

The 1981 Boys' Swim Team splashed through another successful season. Eleven wins and only two losses, both of which were to arch-rival Cathedral, easily put the Lancers into second place in the division. Thanks go to coach Mark Michelson's intense training program and the team's innate ability. Tri-captains Don Gagnon, Louis Hirsch, and Greg Lowell proved themselves able leaders, collecting several points between them towards the Western Mass. score; second again only to Cathedral.

The team had great depth as shown by the size and achievements of the Western Mass. squadron. Juniors Tad Sudnick and John Oliveri garnished points in the backstroke, gliding to second and fourth places, respectively. Sophomore Tom Ferrin speared fourth place in diving; fellow diver Bob Sweeney, a novice, took eleventh. Highlighting the competition was the winning medley relay team of Todd Hartigan, Tad Sudnick, Louis Gomez, and anchorman Chuck Lines, and the awesome breaststroke trio of John Griffin, Todd Hartigan, and Louis Gomez, who swept first, second, and third places. Other point contributors included juniors Chuck Lines, Mike Jones, and Jeff Hirsch.

Despite the loss of several good seniors, the team should be extremely powerful next year, especially since both Tom Ferrin and Bob Sweeney will return to dive. Although Cathedral got the upper fin this season, those Panthers had better watch their paws next year!

Watch out Western Mass! The Black and White gang is looking for another Championship and a trip to Boston Garden. The Lancer hockey team iced another excellent season with a Fay Division winning record of 13-2. This year the LHS icemen showed more spirit and determination than ever. Coach Ray Suzor's tough pre-season conditioning and daily sprints and drills whipped the team into top physical and mental shape.

Superbly lead by tri-captains Dan Dineen, Chris Hutchins, and Karl Steltzer, the players knew from the start exactly what they wanted — to win, and win they did. Fletcher Wason, Karl Steltzer, Steve Verducci, and goalie Dan Dineen provided a formidable defense, while the line of David Thor, Greg Fisk, and Mark Puppolo pooled their talents to form a razor sharp offense. Greg Fisk led the Fay Division with a season point total of 42, followed closely by David Thor with 41 points for second place. Both skaters surpassed a 100 point career total. Although the seniors will be greatly missed, the depth of this awe inspiring team next year should provide a season that will be equally as exciting.

Old Man Winter was a little more obliging this year in the way of snow, giving the Lancer skiers a chance to show their salt. Coached by Michael McCarthy, the close-knit clan pushed hard all season; several team members participated in lodge races on the weekends to hone their skills. Both the guys' and girls' team, expertly lead by senior Chris Burger and junior Polly Lucier, finished second overall in the league.

In the limelight this season stood Chris Burger, who was eighth overall in the league, backed strongly by senior Eric Freedman in ninth and junior Tripp Lantz in tenth. The girls' spotlight focused on Polly, who placed third overall in the girls' league, while sophomores Naomi Shupack and Missy Freedman placed seventh and tenth. However, the rest of the team did not wither in the shadows. Junior Keith Hall was a strong contender in every race and pulled in several points for the team, as did promising sophomore Ann Dowd. Should there be a team next year, the Lancers will be as strong as ever.

Winter is never dull at LHS, not with the boys' basketball games to keep the student body cheering at all times. In fact, the team is so competetive, hard-working, and dynamic that they keep the spectators on the edges of their seats throughout each game. Coached by Mr. Ron Morissette, the team has had an excellent season, winning over sixty-five percent of their games. With stars Marc Hurwitz and Kevin Boudreaux as captains, they couldn't go wrong. Marc, an ace-shooter, is the leading scorer in Western Massachusetts. The seniors on the team, Marc Hurwitz, Kevin Boudreaux, Bruce Kipperman, John Carey, Brian Fogarty, Russell Pahl and Jeff Vinick, worked like a well-tuned engine in every game. The seniors will be greatly missed, but with such underclassmen as Chip Snyder and Matt Daniels, next year should be equally exciting.

Coach Carol Moore, accompanied by assistant coaches, intently watches a play.

"Go for it, Donner!"

The Girls' Basketball Team finished the year with a fantastic plus: their extraordinary new coach, Miss Carol Moore. Working diligently to get the girls in shape, Miss Moore gave the team not only pep but also endurance. Although the final record of 3 wins and 13 losses is not as impressive as that of other years, the girls gained a great sense of sportsmanship. Co-Captain, Monique Lussier felt, "There were fewer personal fights and rivalries between the team members. We all played really hard and did the best we could." With great potential as demonstrated by such players as freshmen Kerry Flanagan and Cathy Davitt, the outlook for next year is promising. Many players feel that with a little more work and the same coach, the team will easily surpass their present record.

girls' gymnastics

The best in the west! One of the most exciting teams to watch in LHS is the powerful girls' gymnastics team coached by Jackie DeSalvo and Michele Basque. This team shows great potential and expertise in every aspect. Captains Sandy Bradford and Carole Tomko work great with other team members, and the whole team exuberates a great sense of warmth, sportsmanship and sharing. The girls work together daily, and their efforts are rewarded in their competitions. Connie Leavitt, the Freshman wonder, Carol Tomko, and Sandy Bradford have all greatly contributed to the team and are the best all around gymnasts. The entire team set a high record in the school dual meet, scoring 115.2. Karen Richfield, Sandy Muller, Dana Campagna, and Sheree Feinberg show talent in floor. In vaulting the team has Amy Terrel, and Ruth Mannix. Holly Carrol and Marci Leopold are both excellent on beam, and Sharon Sabin is terrific on bars.

A triumphant finish to a sterling performance.

If you are wondering which team has broken the most records this year, it is the Boys' Gymnastic team coached by Mr. Kober and Mr. Williams. Davis Paulides, an all-around gymnast, set a school record in vaulting and broke the all-around record. Davis is also the highest scorer in the high-bar, rings and parallel bars for this year. Captain Michael Black has also contributed to the team's success on the rings and parallel bars. The four seniors and high scorers were Mike Black, Kevin Stenstrom, Larry Rosenbaum, Rich Holman, Gardener DesRoberts and Doug Cowles. Other high scorers were Squire Prebor and Paul Cress.

"Hit it with your best shot" could often be heard ringing through the Center School Annex this year. The "bullet-proof" Rifle team was coached by Ray Villeneuve to a 5-6 record. Captains Dan Engleman and "son-of-a-gun" Ronnie Villeneuve were the most precise shooters on the team. Mr. Villeneuve expressed his dissappointment that the School Committee chose to discontinue the Rifle team next year. "It's not fair to the kids" stated Coach Villeneuve. Unfortunately, there were no seniors on this team, and next year's team could have been a successful one.

For the L.H.S. wrestlers, 1981 was a muscle building season. The team was young: Craig Condon was the only Senior, and many wrestlers were only in their first or second year . . A great deal of time was spent on learning various wrestling techniques. Novice coach John Quinn comments: "We have a team of good caliber, but they had to learn the basics. There has been alot of individual improvement." If there is a team next year, promising returners include star juniors Matt Shoen and Steven Danalis in the]87- and]47-and-under weight categories respectively. Says Coach Quinn, "Wrestling takes alot of dedication; anyone who sticks it out (to the end of the season) is a winner, in my opinion."

UNDERCLASSMEN

The biggest difference between underclassmen in 1957 and in 1981? In 1981 we have to call them "Underclasspeople!" The Underclassmen at L.H.S. encompass three years of student life: from the young freshman to the capable juniors. And sandwiched inbetween are the sophomore, more seasoned than the freshmen; yet younger than the juniors. Quite a lot of maturation takes place in these three years; by junior year college looms near on the horizon and expectations of Senior year skyrocket. Of course, the dream of every underclassman is to be a senior, the leaders of L.H.S. In the meantime, the underclassmen will have to be content in knowing that they are the majority of the students at L.H.S., soon to be the leaders of the school.

Junior year is an important time for students because they are recognized as upperclassmen and given more responsibilities. The class of '82 has handled this challenge well by demonstrating maturity and leadership.

This year began on a positive note for the juniors, with more class involvement, spirit, and enthusiasm at class council meetings. Led by class advisors Mr. David Slate and Mr. David Title, President Hyung Lim, Vice-President Amy Terrell, Secretary Joanne Marcelina and Treasurer Paula Sachsse, the Class Council worked well together and sponsored many successful activities such as a car wash and a raffle. The junior class should prove to be a superior Senior class in 1982.

The Sophomore class, led by: advisors Miss Cathy McInnis and Mr. William Kirkpatrick and class officers Jonna Gaberman, Maureen O'Donnell, Jo-Anne Cardaropoli, and Carol Courtney, has made great progress since last year. They took second place in the float and spirit links and have had many successful money making events which included numerous bake sales, a car wash, and a few other spirit raising events. Our second annual auction takes place in April and an Italian dinner in March. Through these events and the spirit and participation of the class of 1983, they hope to continue to have an enjoyable and profitable year.

For the Freshmen Class Council, the first year at Longmeadow High School was a successful one. Aware of their responsibilities for the future, they made a good start in rapidly increasing their treasury. Under the leadership of President Timmy Dow, Vice-President Kathy Collaro, Secretary Jenn Wass, and Treasurer Becca Asséo, in addition to their advisors Mrs. Jane Murphy and Mr. Richard Redeker, the class council achieved many of the goals they set out to accomplish. While raising money, the Freshmen Class enjoyed many of their activities, showing spirit and having fun.

ACTIVITIES

What a difference a quarter century makes! In 1957 we had no Jet Jotter, but we did have a thriving Newspaper Club. Also, another popular organization was the Traffic Squad. This group has disappeared from the halls of LHS together with bobby sox and neckties. Twenty-five years ago, the Masacksic staff, headed by Penny King and Mary Brouwer, struggled to produce the first LHS yearbook. While the Drama Club of '57 presented "Our Town," a Glee Club entertained in the auditorium and the LHS Marching Band paraded at Half times.

Co-editors in chief, Scott Grasso and Alison Reiner

Advisor, Mel Grant

Activities editors, Kristin Poppo and Cathy Gianelly

Copy editor, Nancy Shrair

Art editor, Alissa Meyers

Business manager, Ellen Davidson

Sports editors, Nadine Canter and Alan Feldman

Doubtless through the fall and winter the Masacksic staff experienced some doubts "Will we meet the deadlines?", "Will we complete the yearbook?", Prevalent and thought-provoking questions. However, the unity on Masacksic more than compensated for any anxiety. The result, a more personal yearbook rather than a collection of mechanically completed pages. In any inter-dependent organization such as Masacksic, warm and efficient relationships are essential. Co-editors-in-chief Alison Reiner and Scott Grasso proffered much aid to staff members indeed, even deliverance in times of need. Bringing guidance and "refreshment" to diligently working editors and staff, Masacksic advisor, Mel Grant played an integral role in the production of the yearbook. The ultimate effect: justification for the time spent, a great source of enjoyment, and a keeper of fond memories; Masacksic 1981!

The Lancers were victorious this year even though snow was on the ground and the "Homecoming Game" against E.L. was away. The festivities at home made it all worthwhile. The weekend began with the annual Spirit Links competition. The four classes united separately to buy links. The class collecting the most links won half of the collected money. This year the Seniors posted the winning total, and the Juniors took second place. The Seniors sponsored the Homecoming Dance at which both students and alumni get pysched for the remainder of the Homecoming weekend. On Saturday, the Homecoming Parade, run by seniors J.B. Lyon and Sue Duckman, included all the class floats, all the administrators and advisors, with the cheerleaders and band leding the way. The senior' "Lancers" float won the competition, as it illustrated best the theme of "25 years of Lancer Spirit." The sophomores followed in second place and all the floats were great. The weekend was then climaxed by a 10-8 stupendous victory in the football game, Longmeadow over East Longmeadow. The Longmeadow football team played a grueling game in the mud and snow and made the entire weekend a success.

The Longmeadow High School Music Department's performance of "Guys and Dolls," directed by Mr. Michael Mucci, was met with overwhelming approval by the Longmeadow community and its students. Graduating summa cum laude from the Crane School of Music, Mr. Mucci was director of the school's Jazz ensemble before taking a position at L.H.S. After directing "The Sound of Music" last year, Mr. Mucci was able to direct "Guys and Dolls" with great enthusiasm and "know how." "Guys and Dolls" dealt with the fast life of Chicago during the 1920's. Mr. Mucci felt that the one quality of the play which set it apart from the other musicals at L.H.S. was its inspiring dance. After rehearsing for more than ten weeks, the performers were well versed in their steps and lines. The exciting scenes along with the up-beat choreography made the musical entirely entertaining. Many of the leading performers were well experienced from acting in last year's performance of "The Sound of Music."

Seniors Zina Butzky, Peter Asselin, and Valerie Feinstien led the cast with Jed Tick, Robert Rubin, Raymond Lyons, and Howard Odentz also have major parts in the performance. Besides the few who were mentioned, almost forty other actors and actresses contributed to the play. Over 1400 people attended the show on the nights of November 6,7, and 8. This large number represents the great success of "Guys and Dolls" and also the esteemed reputation of the Longmeadow High School music department.

Daryl and Kitty: "You REALLY think you are going to get away with that DON'T you, Mr. Mucci."

a better chance

Longmeadow is one of those fortunate schools to participate in the ABC program. ABC brings together students from all over the country so that they will have A Better Chance in a stimulating academic environment.

ABC students play an integral part in all activities at Longmeadow High School. For example, Hyung Lim is currently president of the junior class. In another instance, Kenny Noel proved to be the backbone of the 1981 Track and Field team. Besides having many members participate in Class Council, many ABC students are actively involved in Dance Club and Math Team. They bring their varied interests and experiences to LHS and enrich us with their knowledge and individuality.

We've got "Wits!" This year the "As School Math Wits" team led by Elizabeth Coco, Robert Cohen, Neal Hoyer, and Donna Cruickshank carried the Lancer banner into the surrounding area. Alternatives were David Lapides and Evan Greenberg. In each match, participants answers short recall questions on categories such as history, literature, geography, sports, general knowledge, words, music and Art. Longmeadow faced Agawam this year and lost a relatively close match on television. Next year the team hopes to do even better with sophomores Hoyer and Cohen returning. Advisor Mrs. Sandra Toepfer commented, "This year's team was an enthusiastic, highly-motivated group who put a great deal of effort into preparing for the match."

L.H.S.'s Keyette Club, a non-profit service organization sponsored by the Kiwanian Men's Club of Springfield has been involved in several projects this year, internationally, nationally, as well as locally. Supervised this year by "rookie" Patti Miller, the keyettes had two international and one district officer. Beth Ditomassi, vice-president of the L.H.S. club, was chosen as the international vice-president. Kristin Poppo held the position of International Parliamentarian and Sue Feinberg was picked as district Vice-President. These girls were among those honored at the International Convention this year at the Marriot Hotel in Springfield, Ma. Other club officers were: President Nancy Fuller, Treasurer Krisi Kinsley, and Secretary Karen Josephson.

The International project this year raised money for the Ronald McDonald fund to support hospitalized children's parents. One Bake Sale alone for this cause netted over 125 dollars. Other ways of raising money included holding tag sales and dances. Keyette district project included decorating the wards of Shriner's Hospital for crippled children before Thanksgiving, Christmas, Easter, and other holidays plus throwing a Christmas party for the kids in the Trauma Center of the Baystate West Hospital Pediatrics Ward. As in past years, the club was involved in the Big Sister Program. In this program, girls from the area help new or problem students to adjust to the community. This year, as in the past, the keyettes helped to make the less fortunate feel wanted and cared for.

Other services which the Keyettes provided include ushering for Stage West plays and Back-to-School nights, waitressing dinners, and babysitting during the holiday seasons. The club also helped with bikeathons, walkathons, the Cerebral Palsy Telethon, road races, March of Dimes, Bloodmobile, Salvation Army bell ringing, Easter Seals, and student orientation. Keyette members also sat in on SFAC meetings. The Longmeadow High School Keyette Club is a worthwhile club for LHS.

The LHS Key Club, sponsored by Kiwanas of Springfield, is a non-profit service organization dedicated to aiding the community and its many charity organizations. The Key Club International Convention held in San Diego, California decided the 1980-81 theme was "Dare to Influence."

This school year has been dedicated to improving peer relations and relieving peer pressure by initiating talks between teenagers. This was accomplished through a compilation of crucial phone numbers such as Suicide Prevention, Hotline and Runaways.

Members of the board- President, Scott Hanson; Vice-President, Dan Henshaw and Alan Feldman; Treasurer, Andy Clark; Secretary, Peter Englehart; Kiwanas Relations Officers, Norm Adams; and Interrelation Secretary, Jay Venti- meet on Sundays at advisor James Climo's house to discuss and refine proposed projects to be presented before the general Key Club assembly Monday nights. The Club has approximately 90 to 95 enthusiastically energetic members this year.

Finding ten hours was not difficult as the club always has more then one project at a time. This year's District Project was to help raise money for the Ronald McDonald House for parents whose children are in any of the Major Boston Hospitals. Other fundraisers included car washes, concession stands, Toys for Tots, bike-a-thons, walk-a-thons, tele-a-thons, road races, a canned goods drive for the Cummings Memorial Mission House, and the Variety Show.

Services the Key Club provided again this year include helping the Bloodmobile, visiting the Shriners' Hospital, ushering, recycling, decorating the main bulletin board, raking yards for the over-Sixties Club, snow shoveling for the Council on the Aging, giving office aid, helping METCO students and officiating at intramural games. Their greatest contribution, however, was helping yet another Key Club to get its start.

1. Scott Hanson, the enthusiastic president. 2. Members think over upcoming projects. 3. Steve Bonasoni enjoys the club. 4. Jeff Hanson ponders over Key Club business. 5. Fred Skoler picks up the Key Club Agenda. 6. Key Club Chaos! 7. Key Club officers: Top Row, L. to R. Danny Henshaw, Scott Hanson, Alan Feldman, Bottom Row, L. to R. Peter Englehart, Andy Clark. 7. collaborative

The Collaborative program at L.H.S. is set up to help students benefit by gaining early experience in certain fields they might choose after graduation. Supervised by Mr. Jebejian, fifteen members take their required majors in the morning and a career education course. In the afternoon the students go to the schools where they are apprenticing. The students study automobiles, electronics, and technical activities.

The purpose of the Cooperative Program is to allow students both to study and work. These students receive credits for a diploma from their academic work as well as from their job participation . They must take at least three academic courses in the morning and work in their jobs in the afternoon. The job position is totally the responsibility of the student, but the Career Department provides aid in placement. The Cooperative Program, under Mrs. Jebejian, requires that the individual works for at least fifteen hours per week with pay.

For those who are wondering where the excitement the new clubs have come from this year, they should look towards METCO students. The seventeen METCO students, with Gaila Paige as president are asserting a positive influence in Longmeadow High School. Participating in all activities from basketball and modeling to class council and Key Club, these students can be seen almost anywhere. Raffles and talent shows are just a few of the future METCO club's plans. With the METCO integrity and their leadership, these seventeen students are sure to be a success.

With a growing enthusiasm for jazz and disco spreading throughout the student body, the Dance Club, in its third year at Longmeadow High School is really boogying. Under the leadership of Ms. Ann Bailey, an excellent dancer herself, students who participate in the club have an interest in dancing and wish to learn new dances from each other. The group is headed by president, Darlene Abney, and vice-president, Isabelle Shepard. Other members include Pam Burchette, Wanda Perey, Maureen Stackowicz and Alyce Walker.

The Drama Club is progressing stronger then ever. With approximately thirty members, the group is putting on two performances this year. The first is a three act play called "Harvey." The second is planned to be a children's play. The group is also involved in competition for one act plays in the Massachusetts Drama Guild. Co-presidents Nancy Jennings feels, "We are starting with much material this year and should do extremely well." Co- President Zina Butsky, along with secretary Kim Sweet and treasurer Maura Malone organized the group for all events.

Most schools have a few good math students, but Longmeadow High School has its own "Matheletes." These extremely talented mathematicians can be found five times a year competing with other students and challenging their minds in math meets against area schools. Donna Beaton, Roland Smith, and Greg Lowell are the experienced seniors who have contributed immensely to the team. These dedicated students work hard to conquer mathematical challenges. With their super advisor, Mr. Daniels, and a lot of logic and skill, they were winners.

1. Mr. Daniels, a super advisor. 2. Math team members work at their problems. 3. Gary King instructs others. 4. Donna Beaton watches an explanation. 5. L. to R. Donna Beaton, Greg Lowell, Roland Ouellette, Alan Burkle, Richard Gotlib, Gary King, Mr. Daniels, Roland Smith.

Should the federal government initiate 39 and enforce safety guarantees on consumer goods? Our Debate Club advised by Mr. Bergeron, will tackle this topic with strength and eloquence and be victorious. Debate Club consists of two groups of four students, one a supporting team, the other an opposing team. These debators, talented in advocacy and logic, have a busy schedule of meets this year, concluding with a banquet of the Pioneer Valley Debate League. To teach them the tricks of the trade and get them psyched for a successful season, the students attended a tournament debate between national finalists at U MASS.

The Outing Club is the only group in the school which combines athletics with adventure. With Mr. Ron Hirsch as the advisor, the group participates in such excursions as canoeing, camping and cross-country skiing. The group has such appeal that people who are not necessarily athletic can participate in the vigorous exercise and find great enjoyment. With approximately 30 students involved a feeling of unity and excitement spreads throughout the crowd as they climb down cliffs or cook marshamallows over the campfire. Co-presidents, Debbie Carlson and Allison Hoar, vice-president, Beth Petrucci, secretary, Jim Shannon, and treasurer Pierre LaPierre organized and led the trip.

Are you looking for an "outlet?" The LHS Outlet was organized so that students could have an outlet for their creativity. Advised by Ms. Linda McShane and led by editor-in chief Beth Petrucci, gives students a chance to develop their creative talents which might not be fully perfected. Taken from classes or other school activities, the creative effort encompasses writings, drawings, and photographs. This publication gives students a chance to work together to create their own magazine. Outlet is a great experience and wonderful opportunity to have work published and enjoyed by other people.

1. Ms. Linda McShane, an enthusiastic advisor. 2. Outlet staff shows their creativity on the cafeteria bulletin board. 3. Beth Petrucci, Outlet Editor-in-chief.

As Mr. Burkle says, "Success breeds Success". Thus we have reason to believe that the band may have a clever motive behind all their great style and fantastic flair. Using this theory the band plays at the middle schools yearly to generate eighth graders' interest. There are about 95 Students in band, a graded course emphasizing effort, progress and participation. The wind ensemble and orchestra practice after school, a practice that has well rewarded their efforts. Band has participated in District and All State competitions and have been invited to play in the All Eastern competition.

Students this year have not found it necessary to sneak their tape players or radios into school. We have our own music! Chorus participation has been growing steadily; throughout the school boys and girls can be heard singing in the hallways, practicing for an upcoming concert, or just enjoying the sound of their well-developed voices. Taking chorus in school involves vocal exercises, reading music, and performing in public. Led by Mr. Michael Mucci, the 72 girls in chorus are already famous for their performance at the All-State Concert at U Mass; and the boys, led by Mr. Peter Thompson, have been selected to compete in a barbershop quartet contest with professionals and other students. According to the observers and the participants, LHS certainly meets with success in all of its music fields.

1. Mr. Peter Thompson proudly acknowledges his chorus. 2. John Bisikirski and Bev Zeroogian sing out strong. 3. Mr. Michael Mucci addresses the audience. 4. Girls Chorus; M. Briones, G. Colella, M. ski club Organized and advised by Mr. Mel Grant, Ski Club has become one of the most popular activities at LHS, and certainly one of the most fun. The buses leave school every Tuesday crammed with 100 spirited students and many excited chaperones. The skiers range from snow-plow novices to airborne "hotdoggers," some taking lessons and others just "doing their thing." Mrs. Jane Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Al Jangl(Mrs. Natalie Jangl is said to be the more conservative of the two), Mr. Robert Potvin, and Mr. Ray McKenna are all chaperones for this club. They all agree with Mr. Mel Grant that the 1981 Ski Club was the best ever: courteous, cooperative, and lots of fun. Unfortunately, this courtesy has no effect on the weather: the club may end up water-skiing on their Brodie Mountain trip! This, of course, will also be done in good fun: Happy splashing Skiers!

1. Daryl Krieling, shows her form. 2. Ski Team members, Ready to go! 3. Steven Basell enjoys the skiing. 4. Mel Grant, an enthusiastic skier! 5. Members of the ski club are K. Anderson, M. Banson, T. indoor track club

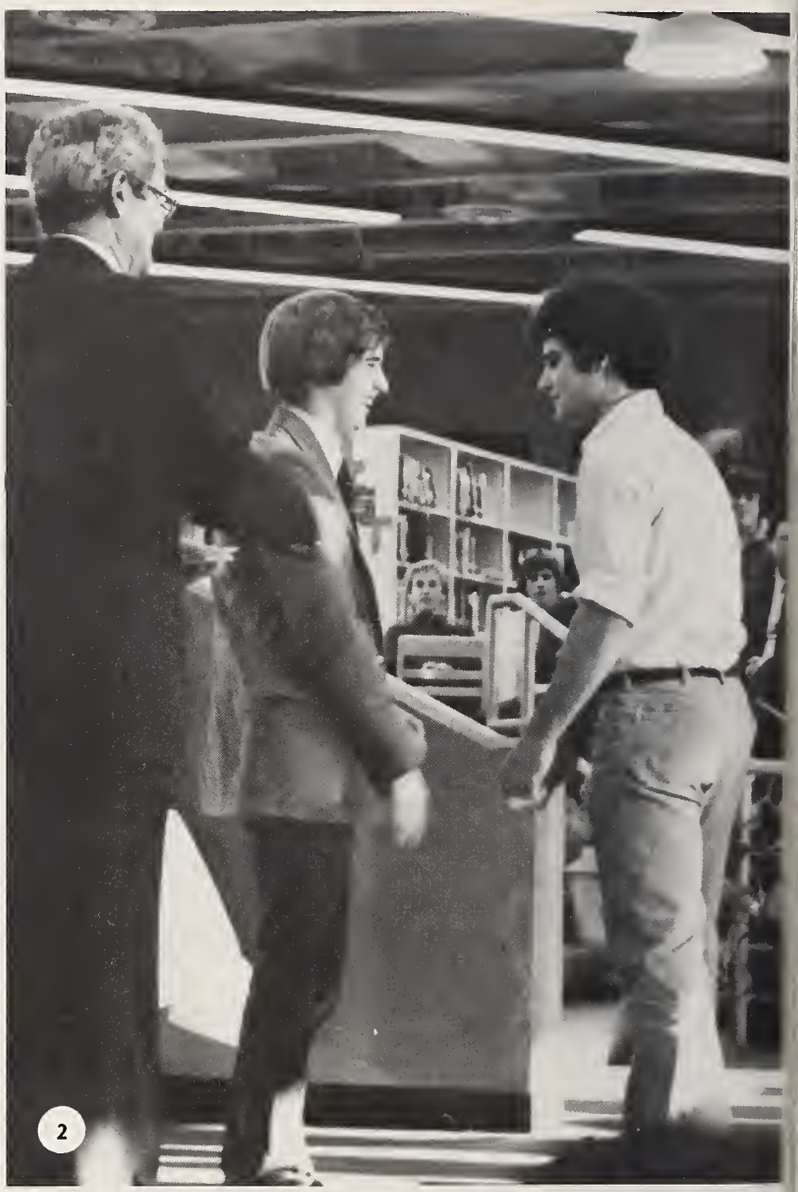
What makes LHSers run? The Indoor Track Club had over thirty members participating this winter. Much to coach David William's surprise, no girls competed, although anyone was welcome to practice and or compete with the group. With the help of Al Jangl and Gary Braes, Coach Williams emphasized individual workouts to supplement the weekly meetings. In Western Mass competition, held at UMASS on January 31, Paul Welch placed third in the 1000-yard run, while Ken Noel took third in the 300-yard dash. Paul's time of 2:31.5 qualified him for state competition at Harvard University on February 28. The mile relay team of John Ratkowski, Mike Jones, Paul Welch, and Ken Noel secured fifth place in Western Mass, losing fourth to Northampton by only one second.

1. Kenny Noel, a tremendous runner. 2. Row 1: M. McLaughlin, P. Welch, J. Ratkowski, Row 2: J. Fitzgerald, M. Horowitz, J. Flanagan. Row 3: K. Paskins. 3. Mike Horowitz, a track enthusiast.

national honor society



Catch the golden tassles of the National Honor Society, an organization comprised of outstanding students. These students are admitted on the basis of scholarship, service and character. New members are initiated in the fall of each year at an induction ceremony attended by new members, their families, and old members. The club is advised by Mrs. Nancy Dudley and Mrs. Eve Dolgin, who enthusiastically supervise NHS activities. The major activity that the one hundred and twenty members are involved in is tutoring students. The members also help in the bookstore by working during lunches and afterschool. The club holds an annual Ping Pong Tournament, a popular event for the student body, in order to raise money for scholarships. The officers are President, Greg Lowell; Vice-President, Margie Markson; Treasurer, Hans Rempel; Secretary, Val Feinstein; Social Secretary, Becca Roth; and tutoring chairpersons, Robin Bye, Cathy Bearce, and Jackie Kumeiga. The highlight of the year occurs when two of the club members are chosen by the rest of the club to be given scholarships from the club treasuury.

1. Pam Friedmann tutors Maura Malone for NHS. 2. John Carey is inaugurated by President Greg Lowell, and Principal Angelo Teixeira. 3. leaders

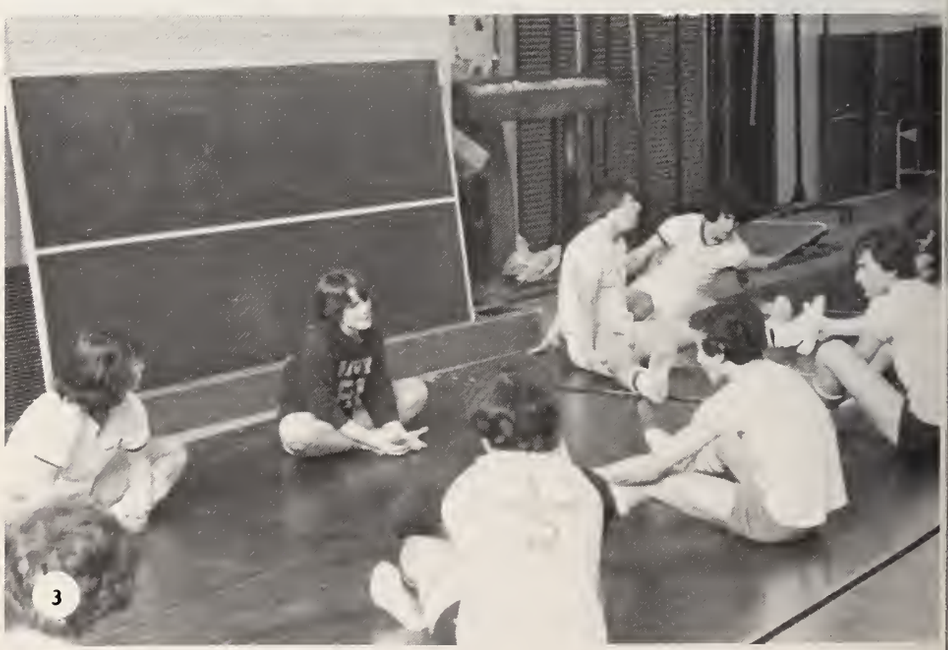
Organized by Mr. David Williams, approximately thirty-five students are involved in Leader's Club this year. The club is open to juniors and seniors who wish to aid a sophomore or freshmen gym class rather than taking one of the regular junior-senior electives offered. A leader is expected to aid the teacher in the running of the class: spotting, demonstrating, officiating, and controlling activities. Leader's Club, which began in 1955, is the oldest club at LHS. Coach Robert D'Agostino attributes the club's success to the excellent caliber and performance the participants have shown over the years.



1. Mr. Dave Williams, The Leaders' advisor and organizor. 2. Vinnie Daboul explains volleyball tactics to Mary Dolce. 3. Heather Wason and Beth Wheeler lead gymnastics.

Managing the Longmeadow High School Library is an extremely difficult job. However, thanks to the help of seven library aids, the task, including the workload, is made easier. The many duties include; preparing books for circulation, checking books in and out, checking in mail, covering the front desk, and keeping the magazines in chronological order-a task which can take more than an hour at a time. The seven members of the group are Elizabeth Woods, Alanna Steinberg, Eileen Johnson, Larry Krainson, Pam Parks, Matt Flatow, and Don Gagnon. Mrs. Pratt feels that these students have "done a tremendous service in particular this year." Revealing an extremely cooperative attitude while handling a tremendous workload, the Library aids, serve as a great help to the library staff and the students of Longmeadow High.

Other aides that are extremely helpful to L.H.S. are the A.V. aides and Television Aides. Without the supreme effort of these aides, the teachers demands for audiovisual materials would not be met. At the same time these students are learning invaluable information about using the materials, working with schedules and relating with people. The aides are a great help to L.H.S.

1. A.V. and television aides, a great help to LHS. 2. Greg Paige, helps with audiovisual aides. 3. Library Aides show their stuff! 4. Larry Krainson rests during his busy schedule. 5. A diligent library aide.

American Field Service, advised by Mrs. Brenda Finn Pierce, offers unbelievably exciting experiences during high school. For those who yearn to travel, they may spend time abroad in fascinating countries, and for those who want to remain close to home, participation in all the AFS activities is always open and short trips are available. This year Tricia Yacavone, Brooke Kirk, Sue Stepan, and Jean Franson are abroad in foreign countries and Jon Snelsberg and Stuart Williams are being hosted here. AFS also sponsors an International Weekend sponsoring 17 foreign students. President Tricia Yacovone, vice-president Sandi Shapiro, treasurer Connie Heye, and secretary Barbara Wojcik meet with AFS members every week to plan new activities. With active participation by all members, this club is fast moving and exciting.

"All the news that Fitz prints." Everyone would agree that this epigram certainly describes our own outstanding newspaper, The Jet Jotter. After winning the first place prize for journalism last year, the paper strove to maintain this reputation, featuring many articles on current events such as Proposition 2 1/2 and draft registration. The Jet Jotter also gives ample room for students opinions in sections like "The Student Voice" and "Letters to the Editor". This year, The Jet Jotter added a new member to its staff. Mr. Dan Lynch, a history teacher at LHS helped Mr. John Fitzgerald who has been guiding the school newspaper for the last two years. Senior editor, Margie Markson, along with the many other editors, writers, artists, and photographers, contributed her talents and hard work to put out a quality newspaper. We are fortunate to have this fine addition to our school life.

You have probably heard about under-achievers and over-achievers, but are you aware of our own Junior Achievers? Led by Mr. Gary O'Sullivan Junior Achievement provides an outstanding opportunity for students with an interest in business to further their talents. Mr. O'Sullivan feels "It gives 'Hands On' training and provides experience in the areas of selling, advertising, financing, and promoting one's business." Provided for students to work together and communicate with one another. Roland Smith, a student of LHS, is now Vice-President of his company, which is involved throughout Western Mass. It is a community organization with the interest and guidence provided by local, successful, businessmen.

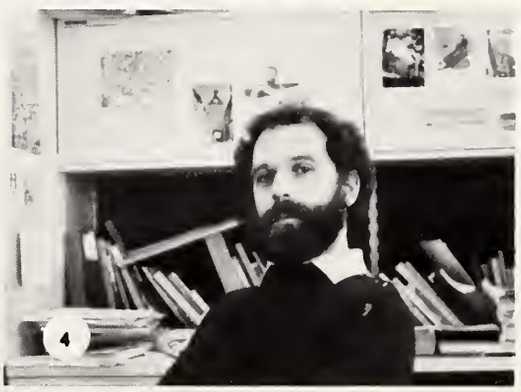
dungeons and dragons



Did you know that we have our own dungeons and dragons right here at LHS? "Dungeons and Dragons" is a fantasy game in which each participant plays the role of a medieval character. Although this unique club plays the game on a table, the game can be expanded to include a college campus. The group (ten to fifteen players) meets twice a week in room 231 with advisor Mr. Ray McKenna and will occasionally gather at a member's house on the weekend. President David Lapides welcomes any interested students to come and watch a game.

FACULTY

What happens to a high school faculty in a quarter century? 1. They grow older. 2. They grow bigger. 3. They grow better. Of the original 27 teachers who launched the first graduating class in 1957, only seven stalwart souls remain. Today, we have over 100 faculty members at the high school, teaching a wide variety of subject matter. On almost any day a student can participate in classes on nuclear physics, computer science, or Asian civilization. Our English faculty alone offers over ten different courses just for seniors, from a study of the Bible as literature, to a concentrated program in writing. The L.H.S. faculty may have changed considerably in the past twenty-five years, but one factor has not changed at all: dedication.

A warm and beautiful individual, Miss Baird has that special talent for recognizing students by remembering their parents. Since the first student crossed the threshold of Longmeadow High School, she has been there to offer her love and support and has enjoyed every minute of it. Some days, she may wake up and say she is not going to school, but our Miss Baird would not miss a day, knowing that her library contributes tremendously to the students' education. She has had great co-workers in the past twenty-five years, so L.H.S. has been both her social and business life.

During the past twenty-five years, Miss Baird has been a class advisor, and the coach of drill team and cheerleading. With all these other activities, Miss Baird remains the best librarian around. From the first day L.H.S. opened, (the library had only a dictionary and a bible) to today, (the library now shares a beautiful new wing of the school) Miss Baird has worked closely with students. She regrets that she no longer knows each student by name, but she enthusiastically affirms that L.H.S. students are the very best, the most creative, and certainly the most intelligent; that is what keeps a cohesive comradeship in this school.

A familiar figure around the corridor of Longmeadow High School, Mr. James Climo, the jovial Guidance Coordinator, is currently enjoying his twenty-fifth year of active service at L.H.S. Mr. Climo has witnessed many changes and shifting trends during his long tenure. The Guidance Department has been forced to deal with the problems caused by an increasing school population during the 60's and is currently facing having to deal with the problems of a declining school enrollment. Another change is the increase in the percentage of college bound students. This situation has added enormously to the quantities of paperwork to be processed by Mr. Climo and the other guidance counselors.

Mr. Climo's dedicated service is not confined to his role in the school administration. As faculty advisor of the Key Club, he is forced to give a large portion of his free time to attend various club meetings and functions. His guiding influence led the club to many awards in 1980, and he is enthusiastic that Key Club's success will continue.

Although a recent illness has forced a cutback in some activities, Mr. Climo can still be seen in his office working busily to insure that students make the right choices about classes, college, etc. The faculty and student body sincerely hope Mr. Climo's dedicated service to the school will continue for many years to come.

"There is a time in almost every person's life when he experiences the thrill of creating something." These are the words of Mr. Al Lopes, head of the English Department, who has been teaching at L.H.S. since 1955. He, along with eighteen other teachers and three hundred students, was the creator of the school. Mr. Lopes remembers that for the first ten years of the school's existence, students felt a certain loyalty for the school. This spirit came from their participation in creating it. It seems that this sense of loyalty has decreased. Although Mr. Lopes thinks the decline is unfortunate, he realizes that this special sense could only stem from the thrill of creation.

Mr. Lopes feels that spirit could be instilled once more if students would take an active interest in the school. Primarily, they should recognize the school's growth. In 1955, there were only nineteen teachers; now there are about one-hundred. The number of students has increased from 300 to 1500. More important than the growth is the expansion of academics. The English Department, which once consisted of only two instructors teaching one course for each class, now has twenty teachers. They offer a variety of courses to all classes.

The spirit and devotion of L.H.S.'s first students is remembered by Mr. Lopes, and he hopes that some of it will carry through today. Perhaps students today can recognize the ever-present need for improvement.

What has been the most significant change in our language department over the last 25 years? According to Mrs. Nancy Dudley, our dedicated Latin and French teacher of 25 years, the foreign language department has grown dramatically since 1957. Where two languages were previously offered, there are now four. Instead of only four teachers, we now have thirteen. Mrs. Dudley feels another significant change that has taken place during her career at LHS is the relaxing of the dress code in 1971. Suddenly the boys did not have to wear ties, and the girls were allowed to expose their knees. Mrs. Dudley has seen student attitudes go from relatively passive to decidedly outspoken, and recently back to a more conservative quality.

Mrs. Dudley finds that her teaching competes with the excitement and constant change taking place every day. Television, in particular, seems to be a threat, taking the place of classroom learning and requiring teachers to "work more on a variety of activities to keep students interested."

Other than demanding greater diversity and perhaps seeking more direction with the specifics of their work, students have changed very little according to Mrs. Dudley. "There are just as many selfless kids today as there were back then." However, Mrs. Dudley believes that today's students are more aware of the needs of others, and have shown this by forming groups such as the Key Club and the Keyettes.

For almost 25 years, Mrs. Dudley has been providing direction and sincere interest for her students. Currently, she is one of two advisors for the National Honor Society. We thank Mrs. Dudley for her dedication, and we sincerely hope that she will remain a part of LHS for many years to come.

Mr. Pratt—Mr. Lopes—Miss Baird—Coach D'Agastino—Mr. Ursprung. What do these teachers who taught the class of 1957, the first class to graduate 25 years ago.

For Mr. Stanley Ursprung of the history department, the call came in 1957. Initially, he was attracted to L.H.S. by the opportunity to return to New England; but it was the atmosphere of the school that has kept him with L.H.S. for 25 years.

"When I came to Longmeadow, I found a combination of students with a desire to learn, supportive parents, and an institution with high standards," commented Mr. Ursprung.

Mr. Ursprung coached football from 1956 to 1972. He also guided men's track for 24 years, leading expertise in his own speciality, the weight division.

In summing up his years at the high school, Mr. Ursprung said that beside visible changes, students have changed in their attitude toward school. "In 1955, a good education was important. The desire to learn was high; but between the mid-60's and 70's, I saw a decrease in that desire. Student interest moves in a cycle, and I'm glad to say it is now on an upswing."

"My teaching has not changed at all over the years, only the materials have changed." So says Mr. Edward Pratt, chairman of the science department at L.H.S. Throughout the last twenty-five years, Longmeadow has witnessed innumerable changes, but what has not changed is the dedication and guidance of the head of the science department. Beginning in 1956, the department, staffed by just Mr. Pratt and one other teacher, offered only general science, biology, and some physics and chemistry. Today, there are a number of courses offered, including psychology and anthropology.

Although course offerings have multiplied over the past twenty-five years, Mr. Pratt sees the primary change in student attitudes. "During the Fifties, the students were "prim and proper" but as the late Sixties and early Seventies approached, they became more relaxed. "Now the kids look better, and are more serious." He believes life was simpler in the fifties when students were more conservative and academically oriented. Mr. Pratt remembers when the school had less than 400 students. "People were more conscious of the school. The teachers knew the kids." Although today, L.H.S. may be less personal, the students have much more freedom." The major turning point, he feels, came when the dress code was abolished in 1971. Mr. Pratt, however, believes that the recent resource program is a well justified step toward student freedom. "If the student wants to do well, he can; you can't make him study." Mr. Pratt feels that this program greatly encourages student responsiblity.

"Longmeadow may not be quite the 'beacon' it used to be," but if the fine teaching of Mr. Pratt, and others like him is any indication of the years to come, Longmeadow High School has a great future ahead.

Some schools have concrete foundations, but L.H.S. was built with a foundation far more solid than concrete: we call it "Coach D'Ag." Mr. Robert D'Agostino has built twenty-five years of tradition into the athletic and educational programs of this school, affecting the lives of both teachers and students. As director of physical education, as well as football and baseball coach, "Coach D'Ag" has found fulfillment in working with students. According to D'Ag, "Kids today have not changed." Similarly, students say that D'Ag hasn't either; he continues to generate love, respect, and good feelings throughout the school.

SPRING

Spring at LHS was greeted with special enthusiasm; it meant the graduation of the 25th class. As the seniors prepared for their Senior Week and Graduation, the entire school was caught up in the excitement generated by this special class.

For the Juniors it meant the end of U.S. History and Junior English as they anxiously anticipated their senior year. The Sophomores were looking forward to finally becoming upperclassmen, along with anxiety concerning their rigorous Junior year. Finally, the Freshmen were getting "psyched" to have someone below them at LHS.

They "did it!" The tradition of excellence in lacrosse at LHS, reflected in a remarkable season of play, climaxed in typical fashion as Longmeadow captured its fourth straight state championship in a frenzied come-from-behind victory over Lincoln-Sudbury. After seven rigorous and satisfying seasons as head coach, David Stockwell, the man responsible for Longmeadow's astouding accomplishments, has retired, "in a blaze of glory." Possibly the "best team ever," in Stockwell's opinion, the Lancers compiled an unbeatable record of 20-0 during their march to the state tourney, an almost annual event in the Longmeadow lacrosse arena.

Tri-captains John Carey, Dan Dineen and Eugene Johnson did a fine job in channeling the energies of the team against such difficult adversaries like Wilton, Kingswood, and Hotchkiss. Carey, a superb attackmen, was unfortunately injured at the commencement of the season; however, Dineen was unequaled as goalie and Johnson was a mainstay of the team's defense. The offensive capability was unsurpassed, led by senior Pierre Beauchamp with 89 points and junior Greg Fisk with 87 tallies. Senior Kevin Boudreaux (70 points) who combined with Beauchamp to form the so-called "French Connection" was a great asset as well as junior Jeff Jones with 72 points. The middies, guided by senior Matt Fountaine with 42 points and fellow seniors Peter Miller and Brett Leveille, suplemented the attackmen. Defensively, seniors Ted Landis, Eugéne Johnson, and Mike Demarche guarded the LHS goal cage while Dineen was inpenetrable in his goal tending capacity.

As for the 1982 season, Stockwell is turning over the reins to coach Dan Kane who, although the graduates will be greatly missed, has a returning team of equal potential. The 1981 lacrosse team, will not soon be forgotten for they were determined to "do-it" and that they did in a truly AWESOME fashion.

How can one determine the success of a team's season? The cliché, "It's not whether you win or lose, but how you play the game," seems to sum up the 1981 softball season. Both the Varsity and Junior Varsity teams never lacked spirit, perseverence, or determination. Paula Ingalls, the Varsity coach, says that she admired the way everyone stuck together through wins, losses, and sicknesses. Players such as Sue North at shortstop, Cathy Davitt, catcher, Heidi Beyer on third base, and Soozi Becher as pitcher, proved to be great assets to the team. Freshman Carrie Flanagan, voted most improved player, was outstanding in defense. Mrs. Ingalls predicts that the team's success in 1982 depends on their consistency as a team and strong, dependable pitching. Mrs. Ingalls, who will not be coaching next year, would like to thank the softball team for making her experience at L.H.S. a memorable and very rewarding one.

What does a record reflect? The 1981 girls' lacrosse team, although possessing an overall record of four wins, seven losses and one tie, hardly reflects the growing skill, talent and camaraderie which characterized the team, only in its third year of varsity status.

Ably led by second year coach Cathy McInnis, seniors Monique Lussier and Anne Smith captained their team into action. Monique Lussier, voted Most Valuable Player, was a key on attack with consistent assistance of offensive senior standouts Dara Murphy, Carole Tomko, and Leslie Picard. Defensively, seniors Deidre O'Reilly and Donna Golaski, both novices to lacrosse this season, performed spectacularly as well as sophomore sensation Anne Dowd, While the graduates will be sorely missed, juniors Michele McLean, Wendy Hochberg, and Polly Lucier with the added help of strong sophomore contingent and upcoming freshmen, will return to lead their team to victory against their mighty prep school opponents.

Coach McInnis will be greatly missed next year due to Proposition 2½, but on the horizon for 1982, an even more promising season looms.

1. Captain Monique Lussier looks for an opening while skillfully cradling her stick. 2. Senior Laxwomen commend each other after a winning score. 3. track

Who are the unsung heroes at LHS? The boys' track team who exemplified an enduring dedication to a sport which is often unjustly overlooked at LHS. Coach Joseph Winseck directed his forces to a remarkable season. The overall record of nine wins and two losses in Valley Wheel competition, as well as placing third in the Western Massachusetts showdown, losing first place by only 1 and three-quarters points in a hotly contested race, clearly demonstrates an extremely capable team.

Leading the team into competition was dynamo Ken Noel whose consistent triumphs in his four events of long jump, triple jump, 120-yard high hurdles, and 330-yard low hurdles, eventually garnered for him two first place finishes at Western Mass, as well as a new LHS 120-yard high hurdle record. Yet Ken was not the only superb performer on a team which used its depth to advantage. In the sprints, seniors Robert Brandwene, Andy Brown, and Tom Murray were top performers, and the 880-yard race was dominated by junior Paul Welch, capturing both a new record and the Western Mass. championship. Senior Mike Bryskiewicz led the field event contingent, with top performances in javelin, handily aided by junior Joe Glasgow. In the distance events, the team looked to two junior competitors, Mike Jones in the mile and Mike McLaughlin in the two mile, to stride out triumphantly. The team also possessed a remarkable mile relay team of Robert Brandwene, Paul Welch, Mike Jones, and junior Mike Naughton, a group which illustrated a dedication to win throughout the season.

Next year, Coach Winseck shall return having lost many fine individuals to graduation, yet the remaining superstars shall continue to pace the boys' track team to more championship competition.

1. Mike Jones shows his endurance. 2. Bob Kaplinsky goes for the win. 3. Mike Horowitz gives it his all. 4. Brendon Bruno displays his winning form. 5. Rob Brandwene strives for first place. 6. track

Although the various springtime activities, particularly lacrosse games, periodically diverted the attention of the girls' track and field team, dedication prevailed as the girls attained a respectable record of four wins and three losses. Coached by Al "it's good pain!" Jangl, the girls diligently worked to rebuild a team which lost many invaluable athletes to last year's graduation. However, with perserverance and a lot of heart, the team did indeed meet and match its opposition.

The long-distance squad strode out to accomplishment under the rigorous practices of assistant Cindy Fox. Plagued by the unfortunate loss of star miler, Captain Nancy Okun, to injury, the remaining members were led by outstanding juniors Kris Fijol and Gaelen Harrington in the two-mile and sophomore Martha Guild in the mile. The 880-yard run was dominated by Captain Julianne Freedman while the 440-yard dash placed Beth Sutton in a class all her own. This sensational sophomore set a new L.H.S. record as she captured the Valley Wheel championship. Senior Beverly Zeroogian, accompanied by junior Lynn Laakso, leapt to new heights with evident dexterity in the hurdles, and once again Beth Sutton outshone all others with her feats at the long-jump pit. Junior Krista Conley sprinted consistently in the 100-yard dash and freshman Andrea Wilson showed tremendous capability as she paced her 220-yard runs. Not to be forgotten are the awesome performances of senior Joyce Bott as she propelled her javelin to a new L.H.S. record, and junior Beth Ehrenberg who hurled the shot put to even greater lengths.

1. Sprinters start off with full force. 2. Amy Falk shows great determination in her running. 3. Gaelen Harrington runs in strong strides. 4. Kris Fijol accepts a good baton hand-off from Alicia Woods. 5. Team member after a long and tiring work-out. 6. Girls Track Team Back row: B. Petrucci, A. Ouellette, L. Lundy, J. Glantz, A. Woods, P. baseball

For the third consecutive year, the Lancer varsity baseball squad slammed its way to the Western Mass. tournament, eventually placing a highly commendable second-place in their B-division. Third-year coach Michael Deary, with the valuable assistance of Ray Villeneuve, drove his forces to a super seasonal record of 14 wins and 6 losses.

Offensively, senior standouts Harry Achatz, Stuart Ronaldson, and Dan Henshaw hurled lightning bolts in clinch performances. Contributions from the batting box from senior, Mark Hurwitz and junior Aaron Porchelli, provided for a wealth of batting capability. In the defensive arena, senior catcher Dan Yesu proved to be invaluable assisted by fellow seniors Terry Ditmar and Matt Allen, voted Most Valuable Player.

The JV team, under the guidance of coach Gary O'Sullivan, was highly successful, finishing the season with an excellent record of 16 wins and 3 losses. Much of their success stems from pitching aces, junior Frank Kent and dependable sophomore Michael Achatz, each with a 6-1 record, as well as the talented trio of Josh Hartley, John Fitzgerald, and Bob Barquette at bat. An alliance of these promising players combined with the returning varsity veterans renders the future of baseball at LHS highly secure.

1. Dan Yesu sprints for first base. 2. Aaron Porchelli hits a winner. 3. Harry Achatz strikes 'em out. 4. Coach Deary gives advice to team players. 5. Varsity Baseball L to R: row 1: J. Goodman, M. tennis

Tennis and Longmeadow go together like apple pie and ice cream. The LHS boys' and girls' tennis teams continued their tradition by playing flawlessly, finishing the season with an excellent record. The boys' varsity team won 12 matches and lost only 2, while the girls' team had 11 wins and only 3 losses. These records were especially gratifying because the teams had been placed in a new league and challenged with stronger competition. Yet, the girls' team remains one of the top in the area while the boys won the Western Mass. team championship.

Headed by coaches Bill Kirkpatrick and Carlene Stephens, each team exemplified an enthusiastic devotion to excellence and a continuous desire to improve. Although the squads' success was determined by precision teamwork, standout individuals Debbie Kenler, Krisi Kinsley, Dawn Haniseck, Matt Daniels, Reid Wagner and Steve Griffin volleyed the opponents into submission. Sophomores Naomi Schupack and Lisa Doherty rallied to capture the Western Mass. individual doubles title overpowering the top-seeded duet.

Returning varsity veterans Andy Clark, Steddy Dowd, and Dan Frank as well as dependable racketeers Linda Davidson, Debbie Kenler, Eileen Chi, and Karen Goldstein, solidly complemented by a hard-working JV team, provides for a solid foundation for next year.

1. Reed Wagner is pleased with his backhand shot. 2. Eileen Chi attentatively watches the ball. 3. Matt Daniels uses a powerful swing for his serve. 4. Andy Clark stretches back far for a strong serve. 5. Girls' Tennis Team, Back row: Coach C. Stephens, M. Farrell, D. Kenler, K. Gianelli, K. Kinsley, L. Falk, R. Kittredge, M. Eikoff Front row: K. golf

FORE! Look out for the Longmeadow High School Golf Team! Mr. Mannheim saw his players through a tough season in 1981, and emerged to a respectable third place in the league. The win-loss record 9-5, although not as impressive as previous seasons, was commendable. Some individual team members have outstanding credentials, including Chris Hutchins, who placed second in Western Mass. and went on to the State Championship. Other superstars on the squad include Tom Creed, Ralph Lewis, Rich August, Robbie Leavitt, and Mike Cisowski. Longmeadow Country Club, our home course, is one of the most challenging on the high school circuit and undoubtedly will prove to spawn future Longmeadow High School stars for future seasons.

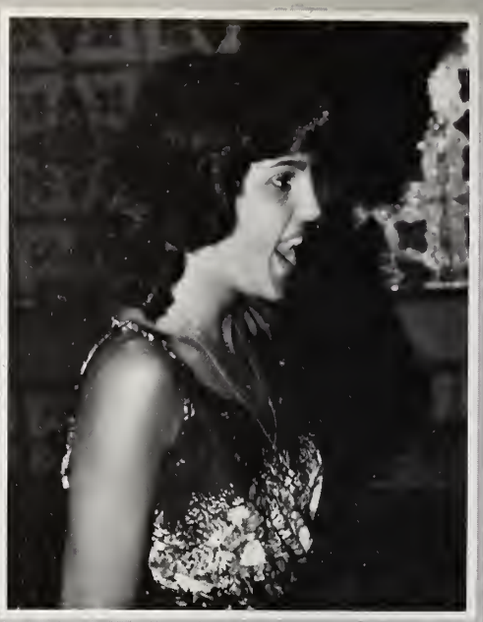
variety show '81

Part of being a senior is the responsibility of producing the Variety Show. This year Variety '81 was a huge success. Chairmen Jim Carroll and Fred Skoler produced the most profitable show thus far. In addition to chairing the show Fred Skoler was also the emcee along with Chris Gentes. Jim Carroll said of Mr. Climo's help and support, "Mr. Climo was the man behind the scenes." Jim also commented that the show was well organized, creating an atmosphere of camaraderie among those participating and organizing Variety '81.

The theme "Enjoy Yourself" added fun and excitement for the audience. Music ranged from a "Dixie Land Band" to a grand finale by the "Faculty Band."

1. Acompanied by Scott Keeley on guitar, Daryl Kreiling and Lisa Cogan sing "Danny's Song." 2. Stuart "Jake the Peg" Williams puts his best feet forward. 3. Danny Croteau plays "You Really Got Me" on the electric guitar with the group "Pheonix." 4. Performing with Jeff Solomon, Pat Ratkowski sings. 5. Jay Venti croons the audience the sad love song, "Born Again." 6. Ol' Steve Becker sings the famous song with some of his farm friends. 7. Celeste Edmunds leaps gracefully across stage in her act "Too Tight" with Gaila Paige.



Celebrate with the 25th graduating class! They excelled throughout the spring in academics, sports and activities. The spring started for most seniors with college acceptances and rejections. The seniors awaited their college decisions with the same anticipation and anxiety as the seniors of 1957 did and that the seniors of 2006 will. Once the seniors were secure with their school for the coming fall they began to enjoy themselves. Many were involved with spring sports and the majority of these teams attained impressive records. The senior members of these teams should be commended for their unending dedication to their teams while they were involved in senior activities. The Senior Class Play "Bye Bye Birdie" was their first major activity. This brought the class together and started a special comaradiree among the seniors. Over 200 seniors were involved and many new friendships were formed. Spring was highlighted with, senior skip day, beach trips and many parties. The climax was finally reached during senior week. During this time, seniors celebrated their accomplishments with the prom, banquet, awards assembly and graduation.

For three magical evenings in late March, the class of 1981 held its audiences spellbound with their production of "Bye-Bye Birdie." Directed by veteran dramatists Kevin Stenstrom and Val Feinstein, the play relayed the saga of Conrad Birdie, a rock idol being drafted into the armed forces who stages a final promotional stunt. The play itself was successful not only momentarily, but in the unity it inspired among the 200 seniors who participated. Leads Jay Venti as Conrad and Ann Rooke as the fortunate girl chosen to receive his final kiss, turned in fine performances with equally intriguing roles portrayed by Jamie Sirkin, Ward McCarthy, and Fred Skoler. However, Anne Smith stole the show with her portrayal of crochety Mrs. Peterson. In retrospect, it can certainly be said that the senior play, was truly an unforgetable event in the realm of senior activities.

1. Anne Smith gives motherly advice to Jaime Sirkin. 2. Jamie Sirkin discusses the wide future that lies ahead. 3. Poor Ward McCarthy tries to revive Anne Rooke. 4. Fred Skoler tries to cheer up the broken hearted Kathy Griffin. 5. Conrad (Jay Venti) is overcome by a fan. 6. Kenny Zimmerman questions Fred Skoler about Conrad's future. 7. Liz Plotkin sings a tune over the phone. 8. Anne Rooke sings about Conrad. 9. Conrad Birdie (Jay Venti) swoons the crowd. 10. Conrads Admirer's tune up for the big welcoming. 11. In a somber moment, Kurt Suhs catches up on the daily news. 12. "My boy doesn't love me" proclaims Anne Smith as Fred Skoler looks on. 13. The girls declare their love for Conrad. 14. A jealous Ward McCarthy looks on as the girls dream about Conrad. 15. High kicking with Fred Skoler, Alissa Greenspan and Karen Griffin forget about Conrad's sad departure. 16. The screaming crowd welcomes Conrad. 17. Jamie Skirkin gives a piece of her mind to Fred.

"You can't always get what you want," the prom song of 1981, illustrated to perfection the gloomy weather on the evening of June 2. Despite the absence of Mother Nature's blessing, those who gathered at the Rodeway Inn in Chicopee eagerly anticipated their senior prom. Amidst the funky tunes of the Cardiac Kids, the aura of colorful gowns and crisp tuxedos established an elegant atmosphere in the tradition of LHS's first prom of 1957. A highlight of the evening, in addition to dancing or relaxing on the pleasant patio, was a reception line where couples could greet their teachers and administrators of the past four years. As the lights softened on the twenty-fifth prom, memories were instilled which shall hopefully transcend the next twenty-five years.

1. Mr. Green wishes Dan Henshaw good luck in the future. 2. A slow dance for Sue Fanelli and Jon Snilsberg. 3. Jay Venti and Jen Mann get down. 4. A couple enjoys a slow dance. 5. Debbie Peavey entertains her date. 6. Jeff Soloman and Lisa Cummings take a minute out from dancing. 7. The cute couple, Scott Hanson and Stacy Merullo enter the prom. 8. Mr. Hirsh dances up a storm. 9. Liz Woods and her date look out on the crowd. 10. Lauren Klein, Lisa Crosby, and Pat Ratkowski have a good time. 11. Chris Nicholson shows Brian Yarrows and Beth Schwartz his new shoes. 12. Kevin Stenstrom shows his stuff. 13. Tracy Franz boogies to the music. 14. graduation

On a glorious spring afternoon, the class of 1981 finally reached the climax of their public school careers, as the dream of graduation manifested itself into reality. Of special interest this year was a large contingent of LHS Faculty and student leaders, who marched into the ceremony to the applause of both parents and students. Several speakers, highlighted by the challenging address of Dr. Harvey B. Scribner, of the University of Massachusetts faculty, reminded the graduates of their past joys and directed their attention to dreams for the future. As the presentation of diplomas concluded, the twenty-fifth graduating class of LH S closed an unforgettable chapter in their lives; yet they eagerly anticipated the realization of their countless future goals.

1. A long-awaited diploma is handed to Lynn Strassberger. 2. Andy Brown glows after receiving his diploma. 3. President Tom Creed addresses his fellow peers for the final time. 4. Seniors listen attentively to guest speaker Dr. Harvey Scribner. 5. Memories flood Deirdre O'Reilly as the final moment approaches. 6. Sandy Bradford sadly marches into the commencement area. 7. Tracy Rehbein happily receives her diploma. 8. Steve Becker strolls to his seat. 9. Anne Smith thanks Mr. Brooslin after receiving her diploma. 10. Joan Rachtschafer awaits her turn. 11. Mr. Teixeira listens to the National Anthem. 12. The faculty, led by the class advisors Carol Rhodes, Vito Riccio, and Sue Feeney, pass by the audience. 13. Marshal, Jim Devine, leads the graduates onto the football field.
